I'm a UX/UI designer with over three years of experience in the software industry, focused on user experience and interface design. Since March 2026 I've been designing and building e-commerce experiences at DENM Digital. I create thoughtful, user-centred work that is practical, engaging and backed by research, combining creativity, structure and empathy. I'm also returning to my roots in branding and motion design, bringing visual storytelling and brand thinking back into my process.
